Aims / Mission / Vision:

1. Where individuals of all regions, rational persuasions, sects, castes, and cultural and ethnic groups live in peace and harmony, and their holy books, places of worship, and founders are respected.
2. Where there are no wars or threats of wars and nations respect each others' borders and solve their disputes through peaceful means.
3. Where governments respect the human rights of all their people and do not engage in persecution or repression of any individual or group on account of caste, ethnic or national origin, beliefs, religious practices, or political affiliations.
4. Where women as well as children of both sexes enjoy respect and protection.

Like any other progressive voluntary organisation the work of SMART is also evolving with experience. Yet, some areas were identified for initial focus These are cultural action, social mobilisation, defence of civil liberties and work in the diaspora. The cultural action is conceived as intervention in daily life practices through popular and folk culture, syncretic and tolerance systems of faith and the building of communities invested in pluralism, while challenging hatred, obscurantism and superstition.

SMART undertakes grass root level activities, with the support and collaboration of the existing organisations wherever possible and if not, by initiating work on its own through volunteers. The emphasis is on constructive and continuous activity, which would create and sustain secular and democratic consciousness.

SMART means without limits. We envisage it as an inclusive institution in which every one who stands for democracy, secularism, justice and peace can participate.

Members of the Smart Association are committed to promote awareness of these issues and harmony among South Asians in countries of their origin and abroad, wherever they live.
